

Organized by the

Prof. MASSIMO ALIVERTI

Neuropsychiatrist

Professor of History of Psychiatry at the University of Milan, Coordinator of the FEMTEC Commission of Medical Antropology

It is announced that on 26 and 27 April 2019 the congress will be held in Monsummano Terme (PT): "Oscar Giacchi (1834-1907) and the psychiatry of his time" with the patronage and logistical support of the local Municipal Administration.

This event is the 2019 event of the two-yearly conferences of the "History of psychiatry and other behavioral sciences" section created in 2012 in the Italian Society of Medical History. It is also an opportunity to study and research for members of the Italian Psychiatric Society who are members of the special section of "History of Psychiatry", who are also invited to present some historical medical work on their discipline.

The date of the conference was chosen based on the availability of the municipality of Monsummano Terme and the neighboring municipalities to offer free admission to numerous places of the territory throughout the week, attracting culture and entertainment.

Please send the title by the middle of March 2019 and a very brief abstract to the organizer of the same congress.

Prof. Massimo Aliverti

E-mail: massimoaliverti@virgilio.it

Mobile: 338-5895216